What to do

- 1 First, take a close-up photo of everybody's face...and ask someone to snap yours, too!
- 2 Get 8" x 10" photos printed at your local Fujifilm retail photo center, or print at home on 8 1/2" x 11" Fujifilm photo paper, making sure that each face fills the sheet.
- 3 Back each photo with cardboard, and cut out around the face.
- 4 Put "make-up" on the face. The secret to tinting skin is to mix drops of acrylic paint with a dollop of clear paint medium from the craft store.
- 5 Glue on yarn hair, paper hats, lace collars and other "costumes."
- 6 Put your "heads" together with curling ribbon for a boo-tiful garland. Or, for facemasks, poke holes so the wearer can see out, and either tie on or tape a dowel to the back for a handle. When masks aren't in use, stick the handle into a pumpkin for a Halloween centerpiece.

Great to use as a costume or as a house decoration, these masks are a family sensation!
